

Instructor

Andrew LoCicero (Sergeant, Retired San Jose Police Department)

Andrew has been connected to California Law enforcement for over 41 years. Prior to fulltime employment as a police officer o he was an explorer scout. Andrew began his sworn career as a reserve police officer with the town of Los Gatos from 1980 to 1984. Andrew's fulltime police career started with the Burlingame police department in 1984 and then with the San Jose police department in 1986. Andrew retired from SJPD as a patrol sergeant in 2013. He continued his LE career as a Reserve Police Officer with the Santa Clara Police Department to this day.

Andrew worked a variety of assignments including detective and an FTO/FTO Sergeant. He has over 20 years of academy instructor experience as well as various POST classes for newly promoted detectives and sergeants throughout the state. Andrew is a graduate of Sherman Block Supervisory Leadership Institute class 323.

Andrew is currently the Corporate Security Director for Amazon's Technology Division.

Instructor

Officer Tony Janovich has over 30 years experience as a Law Enforcement Officer and over 45 years experience teaching police and military tactics. Tony currently works for Santa Clara PD as an As Needed Police Officer in the Reserve Division and an instructor for the SCPD Training Division.

Tony has an impressive martial arts background, thus achieving nearly 60+ years of experience. He was mentored and taught by one of the most reputable and credible Jiu jitsu Grand Master in the nation. Tony rightfully earned the highest blackbelt level in his art. In return, Tony has trained and produced respected masters under his direction and lineage.

The SCPD utilizes Tony and his expertise to organize and create DTtac training for all personnel. He was instrumental in developing the D-Tac program for sworn members who are assigned to the Levis' Stadium events.

Tony is regarded as a well-rounded and accomplished instructor with the ability to improve a police officer's offensive and defensive skillsets.