

Instructor

Jeffrey A. Martin, J.D., C.V.F.T. Jeff Martin is a retired police sergeant from the San Jose, California Police Department where his assignments included patrol, in-service training, narcotics/covert investigations, and field training. A former legal-defense-fund attorney, Jeff currently works as a consultant and expert witness and is an active instructor in the POST ICI Officer Involved Shootings Investigations Course where he teaches use-of-force law and human factors. Jeff has provided expert testimony regarding video evidence in criminal trials and in administrative proceedings.

Jeff's articles have been published in multiple law enforcement magazines and he has multiple-peer reviewed publications, including three presentations and proceedings papers in the Annual Proceedings of the Human Factors and Ergonomics Society.

Jeff holds a Juris Doctor degree, a B.A. in Psychology, and a Graduate Certificate in Human Factors Psychology.